

Rana Santacruz, photo by Adam Cohen

When

Friday Dec 17 (8pm)

Where

Tribeca Performing Arts Center

199 Chambers St

212.220.1460

Large Map »

Map data ©2010 -

Price

$15

Links

- Info Source

“This ain't your uncle's Putumayo, folks. Rana Santacruz creates a definitively modern version of global music, combining traditional Latin instrumentation with Appalachian and Irish musical traditions. The result, whether you call it "Mexican bluegrass" or "Irish mariachi," is a rollicking good time and undeniably original.”

 Leah Taylor, Flavorpill

Tribeca Performing Arts Center says...

Rana Santacruz, a Mexican musician steeped in the Brooklyn music scene, creates music dubbed "Mexican Bluegrass" or "Irish Mariachi" with a dose of rock and alternative. His sound starts in Ireland, runs through Appalachia, swings through New Orleans, and careens across most of Mexico. The acoustic instrumentation includes Cajon, upright bass, accordion, guitar, banjo, jarana, violin and trumpet.

Like Harry Marquez, Laura Seath and 17 others like this.

Logged in as Rene Hubard

Add a comment...

Post comment to my Facebook profile

Facebook social plugin